George Believes Conference Will Relax Tensions

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—Sen. George (D-Ga.) said today he is "more encouraged" than ever that the Big Four conference at Geneva will lead to easing of world tensions.

George, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said the program that President Eisenhower presented today to the Russians, British and French got the conference "off to a good first step."

The Georgia senator was an early advocate of just such a meeting.

"President Eisenhower is being realistic and at the same time not defeatist," George said.

Ike's Program "Balanced"

"He recognizes that the world, including Russia, is ready for some changes in the policies and programs that have been carried on since World War II."

"The President's presentation on the part of the United States and the free world is very balanced. The conference is getting off to a good first step."

Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.) in a Senate speech, foresaw the possibility of "real progress toward complete, universal, controlled disarmament."

He said that if there should be a sudden halt to the making of arms and a reduction in the armed forces, there could be serious economic repercussions if the country didn't plan ahead.

Roads Better Than Tanks

Flanders said the best plan would be to shift from spending for war purposes to spending for the benefit of the people. "It is better to build highways than tanks," he observed.

Flanders also said any tax reductions resulting from a cut in spending for arms would raise the purchasing power of the people.

Sen. Clements of Kentucky, the acting Democratic leader, said if Eisenhower's proposals are accepted in good faith, "we would certainly be on our way to world understanding."

RKO Studio Sold For $25 Million

LAS VEGAS, Nev., July 18 (AP)—In perhaps the largest cash deal in movie history industrialist Howard Hughes today sold RKO Studio and its assets to General Tire and Rubber Co.—making the latter a new giant in the entertainment industry.

The price: 25 million dollars in cash.

The deal was announced after days of secret negotiations between Hughes and Thomas J. O'Neill, vice president of the rubber firm and head of Mutual network and General Teleradio Inc., companies controlled by General Tire.

Under the agreement the new RKO owners acquire control of 400 to 600 of its old films, which presumably will be shown on its television network. There have been reports that it plans to turn the studio into a center for making new movies for TV.

The announcement by Hughes' public relations firm said it is believed "the largest single financial transaction in the motion picture industry and one of the largest cash sales by an individual in the history of American finance."

The contract was signed today and General's check for 25 million will change hands July 25.

West's United Front Shows Sudden Crack

Eisenhower, Faure Differ On Security And Disarmament

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

GENEVA, July 18 (AP)—The "solid front" of the Western powers in the summit conference showed a sudden crack today.

President Eisenhower of the United States and Premier Faure of France pulled apart on two important propositions.

The differences were implied by a study of the Big Four meeting. They were confirmed by an American delegation member who described Faure's speech as going much further in some respects than U. S. policy now goes.

Other officials said the split should not be taken too seriously but it obviously poses a problem in Western relations. The Western powers are having difficulties among themselves even before the Russians—who do not have to worry about allied coordination—make a move here.

Differ On Disarmament

The issues on which the differences appeared were disarmament and European security.

Eisenhower said on the first issue that the four powers should concentrate on the problem of working out an effective inspection system to enforce any arms cuts agreed on.

Faure, by contrast, said he thought disarmament might be achieved by budgetary controls, meaning that a country would be assumed to be cutting its actual armaments if it showed in its budget less money for arms.

On the second point, Eisenhower said Russia could be given additional security guarantees to meet its legitimate security concerns over rearming Germany. Faure proposed creation of a European security organization to which all European states could belong.

At Odds On "Details"

Officials said that while Eisenhower and Faure were in complete accord on the principles of reassuring the Russians and working for arms reduction they were clearly uncoordinated on "details."

In fact, American officials were fearful that the Russians might seize on Faure's budget-cutting suggestion to try to create an opening for a disarmament system that the West would have to live up to and Russia would not.

They also were reported to believe that the French leader, in striking out for a bold initiative, might play into Russia's hands with the call for a European security system.

Widow Gives Up Auto "Sitdown"

DETROIT, July 18 (AP)—A determined widow who locked herself in her automobile for 26 hours in a dispute over $50 with a garage owner, finally gave up last night.

But Mrs. Jean Randall, 36, did not give in until after Irvine (Whitey) Ludwig, the garage owner, had stuck a hose through a car window and drenched her, hooked the auto on a hoist and tilted it in a 45-degree angle.

He finally let her out to telephone a friend to bring her the $50—disputed amount for work Ludwig had done on her car.

Baptist Clergymen Will Go To Russia

LONDON, July 18 (AP)—Four prominent Baptist clergymen from the United States today accepted an invitation to visit the Soviet Union next month.

"It's a wonderful opportunity for us to go to Russia and meet up with our Baptist brethren there," said Dr. Arnold T. Ohn of Washington, D. C., general secretary of the Baptist World Alliance.

Ohn will go with the Rev. W. Carney Hargrove, pastor of Second Baptist Church of Philadelphia; the Rev. Theodore T. Adams of First Baptist of Richmond, Va.; the Rev. Joseph H. Jackson, Negro pastor of Olivet Baptist, Chicago, and president of the U. S. National Baptist Convention. They will leave here Aug. 4 and stay in the Soviet Union two weeks.

Invited By Russian Cleric

They were invited personally by the Rev. Yakov Zhidkov, president of the All Union Council of Evangelical Christian Baptists of Soviet Russia and head of the nine-member Russian delegation to the Golden Jubilee Congress of the Baptist World Alliance now meeting in London.

The four Americans are all members of the executive committee of the Baptist World Alliance.

The Rev. Mr. Adams has visited Russia previously. He was in a group of American teachers who toured the Soviet Union in 1934.

Invitation Long In Works

The invitation has been in the works since last year when the same four ministers met a number of Russian clergymen in Sweden while with a combined Baptist-Quaker mission.

They accepted personally, conversing with the Rev. Mr. Zhidkov through an interpreter.

They will pay their own expenses, except for the Rev. Mr. Jackson, whose fare will be paid by the U. S. National Convention.

Heiress Doris Duke Sues "Confidential"

SANTA MONICA, Calif., July 18 (AP)—Heiress Doris Duke today sued Confidential magazine and its executives for three million dollars, claiming an article caused her "mental anguish, shame and humiliation."

Atty. Jerry Giesler filed the libel suit in Superior Court over a story in the May, 1955, issue. He termed it "an ugly, unfair, scurrilous attack on her good name."

Giesler added that Miss Duke, heiress to a tobacco fortune, would donate any proceeds from the suit to charity and was pursuing it "to discourage magazines of this ilk."

Segni Wins Vote Test

ROME, July 18 (AP)—Italy's left of center Christian Democrat Premier Antonio Segni won a clear-cut 293-265 vote of confidence in the Chamber of Deputies tonight.

It was the first parliamentary test of the pro-Western coalition government which Segni formed July 6.

Talks Begin In Friendly Atmosphere

Areas Of Harmony Revealed; Russia To Join In Atomic Pool

GENEVA, July 18 (AP)—The summit conference opened today in a friendly atmosphere. All four leaders proposed to reunite Germany but East and West differed over the methods and opened up the way for further discussions this week.

President Eisenhower led off with a proposal that the German problem be solved promptly and justly, taking account of Soviet Russia's "legitimate security interests." Premier Bulganin reiterated Russia's insistence that the North Atlantic alliance must give way to a new all-European security collective. He proposed an immediate freeze on all foreign troops in European countries as the first step.

In a concrete gesture aimed at creating a good atmosphere at the conference, the Russian Premier also announced his government will turn some of its atomic material over to the international atoms-for-peace pool created under the leadership of the United States.

Each Urges Security Pacts

Although some of Bulganin's other proposals seemed less likely to please the West, the speeches delivered by the Big Four government leaders disclosed certain areas of harmony where they might explore for means to ease world tension.

1. Each of the four proposed security pacts or accords, mainly aimed at easing the dispute over reuniting Germany.

2. All but France proposed relaxing trade and communications barriers between East and West blocs.

3. All spoke of reducing the arms load.

The big feature of the day was the warm expression of goodwill between the United States and Russia, indicating a friendlier examination of world problems than at any time during the 10 bitter years which have intervened since the heads of these two powers last met in Potsdam in 1945.

Russia Brings Up Far East

When Eisenhower said "The American people want to be friends with the Soviet people," and proposed lifting artificial barriers, Bulganin responded: "We are in complete agreement with that since the lifting of the said barriers would meet both the national interests of the Soviet and American peoples and the interests of universal peace."

As was expected, the Russian Premier came out with a wider range of problems to discuss than were raised by the Western members.

The Westerners steered clear of talk about the Far East. Bulganin hauled it boldly in, saying: "The settlement of the situation in Asia and the Far East, including the Taiwan (Formosa) area on the basis of recognition of the UN."

Talbot Defends Business Ties

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—Secretary of the Air Force Talbot today defended the propriety of his outside business interests. The Senate Investigations subcommittee, which quizzed him behind closed doors, reserved a decision on whether to order public hearings.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) told a news conference later that "Mr. Talbot was most cooperative; he was frank in his replies" at what McClellan emphasized was an "informal conference" with six of the subcommittee's seven members.

Talbot refused to make any statement about it to the press.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), the subcommittee's senior Republican member, who sat through about half of the session, told reporters "I can't see anything so far that indicates any wrongdoing."

And Sen. Mundt (R-S.D.) said "I never had any doubts" about the propriety of Talbot's partnership in the New York firm of Paul B. Mulligan & Co. This is a New York industrial engineering firm that specializes in clerical efficiency studies for business and industrial concerns.

McClellan said the inquiry deals with what Talbot describes as his role of "special" partner in the Mulligan firm. He said the partnership calls for about a 50-50 division of profits between Mulligan and Talbot after Mulligan's salary has been paid "subject to qualifications I can't go into detail about."

House Approves Bill Liberalizing Social Security

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—The House voted 372-31 today in favor of increasing social security benefits for women and disabled persons, and raising social security taxes 25 cents per year for it.

There is little chance that the Senate will act on the legislation before Congress adjourns. It may be considered during the second session of the 84th Congress next year, however.

Under terms of the House bill, the eligibility age of women for social security benefits would be lowered from 65 to 62 next Jan. 1. It is estimated this would bring 400 million dollars in benefits to 800,000 women in the first year of operation.

The eligibility age of disabled workers for benefits would be lowered from 65 to 50, giving an estimated 250,000 disabled persons 200 million dollars in new payments the first year.

To provide the money for the changes, the tax rate on employers and employees combined would be raised from the current 1 1/2 percent to 5 percent. This would mean increases of up to $21 a year for both workers and employers participating in the social security program.

Republican House leaders charged the Democratic-sponsored measure was being "rammed down our throats for political purposes."

But many GOP members voted for it anyway. Opposing it on the final rollcall were 23 Republicans and eight Democrats.

A non-controversial feature of the bill would bring about 200,000 professional workers under social security, including dentists and lawyers, but no physicians.

Sneeze Proves Costly

FLINT, Mich., July 18 (AP)—Charles Simms, 22, sneezed today—and it was costly.

When he looked up, there was a police car right in front of him. The cars collided, caused $350 damage to each.

In addition, two officers in the patrol car were hurt. One suffered a broken arm.

And Simms got a ticket.

Husband Hopeful Woman Will End Anti-Draft Fast

CORAL GABLES, Fla., July 18 (AP)—The husband of Mrs. Martha Blumenbach said today "I'm hopeful we can change her mind" about fasting "until I die" in protest against the military draft law.

"Some people are helping and I believe we might talk her out of it if we can just be left alone for a while," said Earl Blumenbach, a Coral Gables business man.

Blumenbach said his 52-year-old wife had not eaten since 5:30 p.m. Friday and has weakened but her condition is not yet serious.

She started the fast after her dentist-son, Dr. Thomas Blumenbach, 26, entered the Public Health Service. Blumenbach, a recent graduate of the University of Maryland, said he volunteered for his draft board told him he would have to serve in the armed forces.

250 Nevada Convicts Begin Sitdown Strike

CARSON CITY, Nev., July 18 (AP)—Some 250 inmates of the Nevada State Prison refused to return to their cells today and Warden Art Bernard said they were "staging a sitdown strike."

"I guess the boys just wanted to break the monotony," Bernard said. "They've been reading too many newspaper accounts of the riots at Walla Walla and Wyoming."

Suzan "Comfortable"

DUARTE, Calif., July 18 (AP)—Acress Suzan Ball, suffering from cancer, is "resting comfortably," City of Hope Hospital said today. A diagnosis of her ailment will be completed tomorrow.

First Atomic Electricity Turned Into Power Lines

WEST MILTON, N. Y., July 18 (AP)—The Free World's first commercial atomic-electric power went "on the line" today, and one of its first uses was the grilling of a hamburger by a New York State housewife.

Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission turned a switch that unleashed "several thousand" kilowatts of atomic-electric energy into the public utility system of the Niagara Mohawk Power Corp., which services sections of upstate New York.

The electric power was generated by steam produced by a counterpart of the atomic reactor that will power the world's second atomic submarine, which will be launched Thursday at Groton, Conn.

A spokesman for the General Electric Co., which built the generator from which the power was transmitted, told a reporter that the generator could provide additional power for up to 35,000 homes in the system served.

GE officials said the turbine generator, with a capacity of 12,500 kilowatts, "is expected to produce electricity at the rate of about 10,000 kilowatts."

And this generating system, said General Electric, "has a capacity more than twice the amount the Soviet Union claimed to be producing from a nuclear source in June, 1954."

Strauss turned on the power at ceremonies held here at the AEC Knolls Atomic Power Laboratory and attended by top-flight atomic and other officials. He stood before the 225-foot, 20-story shiny sphere that houses the submarine prototype reactor.

Soviets Learn How U. S. Farm Operates

SLATER, Iowa, July 18 (AP)—Twelve important Russians sat quietly today in the living room here of Richard and Verda Alleman, an attractive young Iowa farm couple, and listened attentively to their answers to questions they run their farm.

The visiting Soviet farm experts had inspected the Alleman farm from corn fields to chicken coops. They were interested in everything. They wanted to know all the details.

"How many people do you have to work on the farm?" asked one of the Russians.

Work Farm Themselves

The Allemans explained they worked the farm themselves—with occasional assistance from Richard's father and brother on an exchange basis whereby Richard also helps them once in awhile.

It wasn't clear whether the Russians believed this fully or not. Mrs. Alleman made clear to the Russians that she did not work in the fields, that her responsibility was the house and the chickens.

"What's your workday schedule from beginning to end?" asked Alexander Tulupnikov, an official of the Soviet Ministry of Agriculture whose wild-flying curly hair and photogenic personality are becoming one of the leading features of this journey.

Up At 6 A. M., Free At 7 P. M. Alleman in answer explained he gets up at 6, does the chores and has breakfast, starts work in the fields at 7:30, works there with one hour out for lunch till 6 p. m., then does the chores, has supper and is free by 7 p. m. In the evenings, he said, he watches television, reads, or does 4-H Club work.

The Alleman farm was the first the Russians visited. Before they return to the Soviet Union they will see dozens more, not only in Iowa, but also in South Dakota, Nebraska, Minnesota and California.

Shells Scattered In B&O Wreck

ST. MARYS, W. Va., July 18 (AP)—The Army provided a helping hand—and a curtain of secrecy—today after a Baltimore and Ohio freight wreck scattered high-explosive howitzer shells along the River Division right-of-way.

B. and O. Trainmaster J. L. Cusack of Wheeling said that an Army lieutenant and one other soldier arrived on the scene late today by jeep from Pittsburgh to direct salvage of the shells.

Railroad and other police, apparently acting at the request of the Army, immediately ordered all but working personnel from the scene of the pile-up two miles north of this Ohio River city.

Cusack said that 22 cars near the middle of a 100-car freight derailed and piled into 50-foot high wreckage. Other officials reported that the wreck apparently was caused by a defective rail.

There were no injuries. Seven of the cars were empty, but 15 others were loaded with cargo ranging from canned soup to the single carload of 280 millimeter shells. The explosives were not armed, but fuses were packed in the car with the shells.

Robeson Won't Sign Non-Red Affidavit

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—The State Department said today singer Paul Robeson has refused to sign an affidavit swearing he is not now and never has been a Communist party member.

The State Department reported this after the Negro baritone, accompanied by two attorneys, was granted an unprecedented 75-minute hearing by a top rank team of five department officials headed by security chief Scott McLeod.

Robeson emerged from the meeting expressing confidence that State Department restrictions on his travel would be eased sufficiently to permit him to go to Canada to sing at a concert in Vancouver next Sunday.

Robeson has been barred since August of 1950 not only from traveling overseas but from visiting such countries as Canada, Mexico and the West Indies where passports are not required of American citizens.

Boy Drowns In Pool

BALTIMORE, July 18 (AP)—Royal Coleman, 7, drowned today in the swimming pool at Carlin's Park, an amusement center. He was pronounced dead at Luthern Hospital.

Airliner Crash Survivors Tell Of Engine Fire

CHICAGO, July 18 (AP)—Survivors of Sunday's Braniff airliner crash in which 22 died told today of an engine fire earlier in the ill-fated trip and of weaving and rapid descent just before the tragedy.

The twin-engine Convair, carrying 40 passengers and a crew of three on a regular Dallas-to-Chicago flight, cracked up at a corner of Chicago's Midway Airport on a too low landing approach in heavy fog.

With investigations by federal and local authorities under way, the actual cause of the misculation remained a mystery. A possible answer awaited disclosure by the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Civil Aeronautics Administration officials who control traffic at the airport refused to disclose whether the plane's landing approach was visual, controlled by instruments in the plane focused on a radio beam, or aided by the radio and radar combination called Ground Control Approach.

John A. Casey, the airport manager, said the plane's glide path was low and about one plane-width off the landing course.

Tales of uneasiness during the trip came from several of the 21 survivors in the opening session of an inquest.

Several witnesses told of seeing an apparently minor fire in the left engine just before the plane left Wichita, Kan.

John Leroy Wilburn, 18, of Wichita, a naval reservist who boarded the plane there, testified: "I said to the stewardess, 'Is it supposed to burn like that?'" He said the stewardess, Miss Mary Teel, 23, of Camden, Ark., who later died in the crash, replied, "No, it isn't."

Talks Begin

"In this connection I find it necessary to recall the well-known desire of the government of the People's Republic of China (Red China) to settle the Taiwan problem through direct negotiations between the United States and the People's Republic of China."

"Note should also be made of the important question of reestablishing the lawful rights of the Peoples' Republic of China in the United Nations."

China and Formosa are well-worn topics of debate between East and West. The West had foreseen the possibility that Russia would raise the questions, but few saw much chance of accomplishment in this field. But some behind the scenes talks seemed possible.

While all the others talked of easing tension, Bulganin said already "a certain relaxation of tension in international relations is in evidence."

The three Western leaders based their proposals for security pacts on settlement of the German question. Solution of this question, they agreed, must come first. Russia disagreed. Bulganin said disarmament and security agreements should come first.

"In proposing the program of disarmament and of establishing a system of European security," he said, "The Soviet government proceeds from the premise that the easing of tension in international relations and the creation of an effective system of security in Europe would largely facilitate the settlement of the German problem and would bring about the necessary prerequisites for the unification of Germany on a peaceful and democratic basis."

Preceding that, he proposed a big order for the Westerners to swallow. That would be a two-stage security agreement that would lead to withdrawal of all American forces from Europe, destruction of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, and limitation of the German army to a package size job of about 200,000 soldiers.

Bulganin also suggested that Russia and the United States cut their armed forces down to 1½ million men each, with Communist China allowed a like number. Britain and France would each be permitted to have 650,000 men under arms, with other nations limited to between 150,000 to 200,000.

Boa Breaks Up Bathers' Basking

DETROIT, July 18 (AP)—A boa on the Belle Isle Beach broke up a bathers' basking today.

An unidentified man dropped a 10-foot boa constrictor out of a hamper and let it slither on the sand. Bathers fled.

Police asked the man to pack up his pet and leave. He did. He said he was just giving the snake "an airing."

McKeldin Hails Farmer Credit

ANNAPOLIS, July 18 (AP)—Agricultural representatives from 23 banks in the Fifth Federal Reserve District were told by Gov. McKeldin today that credit extended to farmers has been a life stream for the growth and progress of agriculture.

The governor spoke at a luncheon of the fourth annual meeting of the Association of Bank Agricultural Representatives.

Without liberal credit, he told the technicians, mechanization of farms would not have been possible. "The horse and plow farmer who could save the cash for the purchase of a tractor, a reaper, mechanical milkers and other machinery of the modern farm, was a rarity, indeed," he said.

After their luncheon the bank representatives visited the model farm of Maxwell H. Covington of Davidsonville while their wives went on a tour of historic sites in Annapolis.

They opened a three-day meeting yesterday and will conclude it with a cocktail party and banquet tomorrow night.

Two Jets Collide, Killing One Pilot

ONLEY, Va., July 18 (AP)—Two jet Thunderstreaks from Langley Air Force Base collided today above Virginia's Eastern Shore, killing one pilot and injuring another.

Langley officials identified the dead pilot as 1st Lt. Karl V. Gabler, 23, of Prairie City, Ore. His body was found by air rescue personnel about five miles northwest of Parkleys, near the crashed plane, which was in marshland.

The second plane, piloted by 1st Lt. John J. Hull, of Janesville, Wis., fell near Onancock. Hull parachuted to safety shortly after the collision.

Soviet Helps Viet Nam

MOSCOW, July 18 (AP)—The Soviet Union has granted Communist North Viet Nam 400 million rubles in economic aid, a communique broadcast by Moscow radio tonight said. At the official rate of exchange, this would be the equivalent of 100 million dollars.

New Designs For USAF Academy Satisfy Senators

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—The Air Force came up with some new designs for its academy today and senators who saw them liked them a lot better than they did the original plans.

The new drawings show massive buildings, for the school at Colorado Springs, Colo., five stories high, made of granite, limestone and marble. The general effect is of gleaming white buildings rising from broad green lawns.

One feature is an arrangement of raised sidewalks in the air—wide walkways at each level on the outside of the buildings, connecting them to each other.

The general plan is still modernistic, but not the ultramodern scheme that drew many protests from members of Congress. The House last week held up an appropriation for the academy until a design was more firmly established.

Today's showing was before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee. Secretary of the Air Force Talbott asked it to restore the 79 millions the House took out.

"I am satisfied," said Sen. Robertson (D-Va.). He had said the first design looked like an "assembly of wigwags."

Md. Air Guard Base To Cost 2½ Millions

SAVANNAH, Ga., July 18 (AP)—The National Guard will spend 2½ million dollars to build facilities for Maryland's 104th Fighter-Bomber Squadron at the Glenn L. Martin Co. airport, Maj. Gen. Milton A. Reckord announced today.

The state adjutant general told the squadron members about the money during a formation at Travis Air Force Base where they are on two-week maneuvers.

The Maryland air wing of the National Guard had been threatened with discontinuance until the Martin company last week offered use of its airport. The Guard would have been unable to use jet planes at its old Harbor Field and no other was available.

Strikers Reject Capital Transit Co. Offer

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—Capital Transit Co. proposed, and its striking workers rejected, today a proposed 10-cent an hour wage boost and a $5 a month pension increase.

The offer, reported by Chairman McMillan (D-DC) of the House District Committee, was the first made in direct negotiations since the city's streetcars and buses were idled 18 days ago.

The AFL Transit Workers Union announced it was rejecting the offer. It said it would issue a statement later explaining the reasons.

Company officials made no comment on the offer.

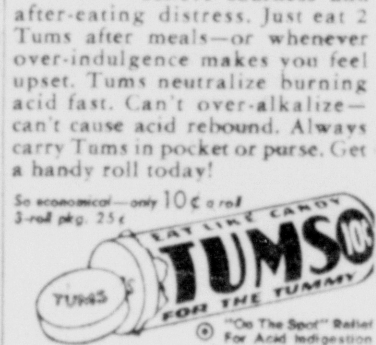

The union struck for a 25-cent an hour increase for operators and 31 cents for top mechanics. At present operators get $1.90 an hour and mechanics $2.03. The union also is demanding a pension plan comparable to that of other transit companies, which would be on a sliding scale based on length of service and age of retirement.

McMillan said company officials estimated the proposed wage and pension increase would cost between $900,000 and $1,000,000.

Meanwhile, district Commissioner Samuel Spencer told Congress legislation drafted by the commission to cancel transit's franchise and permit the commission to operate the company until the dispute is settled. Sen. Neely (D-WVa.) planned to introduce the measure.

The Potomac Edison System Home Service advisors hope the following home-making suggestions will be of help:

If you're doing some inside painting this summer, your air conditioner will speed up the drying process and remove the paint odor.

The next time you prepare French fried onion rings, try slicing the onion without peeling off the outside skin. This will save trouble—and tears. Then, slip the skins off before dipping them in batter.

Unexpected guests? No need to worry about meals for them if you've a supply of all ready prepared foods in the freezer... some easily prepared items you can freeze include baked potatoes, sandwiches, pastries and fruits.

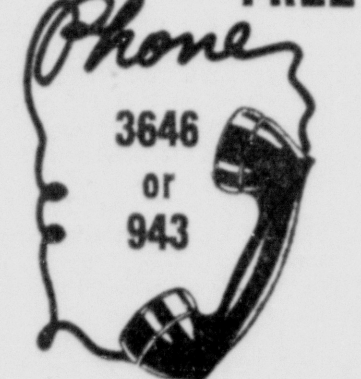

To skin peaches quickly, dip one at a time in rapidly boiling water for 10 seconds, remove and place in ice water.

Tests prove clothes wear out less and fade less in an electric dryer than when dried in the sun.

Two City Cases To Be Heard By State Court

Appeals are being taken in both of the friendly suits brought against the City of Cumberland by Owen E. Hitchins, local businessman, in order to speed final decision in the matter at hand, according to William C. Walsh, attorney for Hitchins.

Walsh said that the judges of the Maryland Court of Appeals have agreed to interrupt their vacation period by hearing arguments in the two cases on Tuesday, July 26, at Annapolis.

Hitchins filed the suits against the city so that a court ruling could be obtained to guide the city's action in issuing bonds for a water line to the new Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant now under construction at North Branch.

Chief Judge George Henderson ruled in favor of the city in both suits, and the appeal to the high court is the final step in the legal action.

In the first case, Judge Henderson ruled that the proper method of amending the charter of Cumberland was under provisions of Chapter 423 of the Acts of 1955, generally known as the Municipal Home Rule Act of the General Assembly.

The second case, decided in the city's favor by Judge Henderson, concerned the action by the municipal council in passing a resolution amending the charter last Monday.

City Extends Garbage Pact To October 1

The city will extend its present garbage collection contract and seek to amend its charter pertaining to wage scales paid by the contractor.

Unanimous action by the Mayor and Council yesterday authorized City Attorney Thomas B. Finan to prepare the resolution for a charter amendment pertaining to wages paid by the contractor under the garbage contract.

At the same time, the order authorized Street Commissioner William H. Buchholz to extend the present contract with John Riley and Son to October 1. This move will permit time for re-advertising the garbage contract in conformity with the proposed charter amendment.

Finan pointed out that Section 155 calls for the contractor to pay the prevailing wage rates. But, he said, there is a discrepancy between the prevailing wage rate paid by the city and the existing scale for non-municipal employees. Council last week decided informally to make yesterday's move as the result of an opinion by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany Circuit Court.

Judge Harris said the advertisement for garbage collection bids April 18 was not legally drawn since the prevailing wage scales called for in the City Code were not specified.

Walter J. Drumm appeared before council to ask correction of a drainage problem in an alley between Edward Avenue and Bopp's Addition. Drumm contends the city is responsible for washouts at the site of a sanitary sewer in the rear of his property and damage to the lower end of his property.

Street Commissioner William H. Buchholz said the alley is a private one and not the city's responsibility. Drumm said he had been told that concreting the washed out area would solve the problem but he did not think he should pay for it.

Buchholz, who with other officials had looked at the site in March, said he would inspect it again.

A meeting of the Teenage Club is scheduled for 7:30 p. m. Friday, with a dance to follow, Mrs. Wilson said.

THIS IS A "DIFFERENT" INSURANCE COMPANY...

The development of policies such as these—designed to serve people better—has been the guiding principle of Farm Bureau Insurance since we were founded 29 years ago.

At that time a group of Ohio farmers, seeking ways to help themselves obtain lower cost insurance, started these Companies.

During the intervening years this idea of self-help has been expressed in many ways—advisory groups of policyholders meet annually to help plan our activities; related enterprises have been formed to help people finance homes and cars at lower cost; and loans have been provided to distributors of consumer goods.

These are typical examples of mutual enterprise—of people working together, not for private gain, but to help solve many of their economic needs.

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Ann Boffen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred C. Boffen, 5709 Old Washington Road, Elkridge, to Allan Jerrimah Samuel Sipes, son of Eugene P. Sipes, Little Orleans, and the late Mrs. Edna Sipes, took place June 19.

The double ring wedding ceremony was solemnized in the Grace Episcopal Church, Elkridge, with Rev. Charles L. Hein officiating. James Boffen, brother of the bride, was an altar boy.

Bouquets of white carnations, gladioli and baby's breath decorated the altar.

Mrs. Robert J. Konzal, LaVale, sister of the bridegroom, was the bride's matron of honor, while Miss Beth Bahr, Miss Minnie Bean, Miss Faith Drake and Miss Hannah Smith, were her bridesmaids.

Alfred T. Boffen served as best man and Robert Campbell and Thomas Seidel were the ushers.

Mrs. Ethel Sewell played the traditional wedding march from the opera Lohengrin and Mendelssohn's recessional, as well as a program of nuptial music.

Thelma Swartzwelder Is State BPW Chairman

Mrs. Thelma Swartzwelder, member of the Cumberland Business and Professional Women's Club, was named Finance chairman for the state BPW at the meeting Saturday in Baltimore.

A sample calendar for a sample club was planned at the workshop conducted by Miss Orpha-Bonita Pritchard, state program coordinator, and also a member of the Cumberland club. It was based on the state program set-up by Miss Pritchard in the national convention last May, when she suggested program themes, which the local clubs will use to bring their own programs into focus with the national organization.

The workshop was built around a plan, "Do It Yourself." It consisted of a prologue, three acts and an epilogue, each with a special title. The prologue was "Aim High," the first act of the play, "Wider and Wiser Humanity"; the second, "Time To Cast away Stones"; the third, Browning's, "Our Times Are in His Hands," and the epilogue was called, "Nor Be Afraid."

The prologue consisted of an explanation by Miss Pritchard.

The first act consisted of a talk by Dr. Leland Sachs, Baltimore, executive director of the Jewish Council of Baltimore. Speaking on a "Wider and Wiser Humanity," the theme of the International Relations group, Dr. Sachs spoke of the international idea of a wider and wiser humanity warning it could not be accomplished on an international level, if first it was not successful locally. Stressing his subject, he pointed out specific incidents of prejudice and bigotry in Baltimore.

For the second act there was a buzz session with all participating, followed by a panel on building the district calendar, with Miss Anna Nicht, of the local club, representing the Women's Government group.

A question period, followed by setting up of the calendar featured the third act, while the epilogue consisted of a summary of the workshop with Miss Gertrude Pritchard as an observer, who reported as a part of the epilogue.

Mrs. Gladys Daniels served as time keeper; and Miss Theresa Nicht with Mrs. Elsie Duff of Baltimore, circulated program packets.

As a special end of the meeting report each member was asked to fill a questionnaire on what to them was particularly helpful at the meeting.

Car Derailment At Bloomington Is Cleared Up

Trains Rerouted, Mishap Blocks Main Line Tracks

BLOOMINGTON — Traffic was stopped most of the day on the two main Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks at Empire near here yesterday by the derailment of 17 loaded coal cars.

However, B&O officials said last night that the two tracks had been cleared and trains again were using the tracks in the west end of the Cumberland Division. Trains were resuming their normal schedule over the two lines about 9 o'clock last night, the Cumberland dispatcher stated.

The derailment of the loaded cars near Bloomington occurred at 3:30 yesterday morning and blocked both main tracks.

No one was injured when the eastbound train buckled just after having descended the 17-mile Grade. No reason for the derailment was immediately ascertained, railroad officials said, adding also that no estimate had been made of the loss in damage and cargo.

The Diplomat, headed east to Washington yesterday morning was rerouted through Morgantown and Connellsville and then into Cumberland with the crack passenger train arriving at Washington about four hours late.

Another westbound passenger train, the National Limited also had to be rerouted over the same track and was late at its western destination.

However, wrecking crews, working feverishly to clear the overturned cars and coal were able to clear the way enough to enable No. 12 from Parkersburg to make its regular schedule.

The derailment was the second in the past few weeks on the B&O in this area, with 19 loaded train cars leaving the tracks June 30 at Patterson Creek. The Diplomat was rerouted at that time through Cumberland.

Alvin G. Youngblood, Jr., LaVale, Maryland, Complainant, vs. Marybelle S. Youngblood, Baltimore, Maryland, Respondent.
No. 23388 Equity in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION
The object of this suit is to procure a decree of divorce a vinculo matrimonii from the Complainant, Alvin G. Youngblood, Jr., from the Respondent, Marybelle S. Youngblood.
The bill of complaint states that the Complainant is a resident of Allegany County where he has resided for more than one year prior to the filing of the bill of complaint; that the parties were married at Vincennes, Indiana, on November 9th, 1943; that one child was born to said marriage, Judith Anne Youngblood, who is now in the custody of her paternal grandparents, Alvin G. Youngblood and Emma R. Youngblood, by virtue of a decree of adoption signed May 1, 1954, in Equity Proceeding No. 23384 in the Circuit Court of Allegany County, Maryland; that although the conduct of the Complainant was always kind, affectionate, chaste and above reproach, that said Respondent has without any just cause or reason abandoned and deserted him; and declared her intention to live with him no longer, and that such abandonment has continued uninterruptedly for at least eighteen months, in fact since, 1945, and is deliberate and final, and the separation of the parties is beyond any reasonable expectation or hope of reconciliation.

The bill further recites that the last known residence and address of the Respondent is Baltimore, Maryland.
It is thereupon, this 9th day of July, 1955, by the Circuit Court of Allegany County in Equity, ordered that the Complainant cause a copy of this order to be published in some newspaper of Allegany County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 10th day of August, 1955, giving notice to the said absent Respondent of the purpose of this suit and warning her to appear in this court on or before the 26th day of August, 1955, to show cause, if any she may have, why a decree shall not be passed as prayed.

Salk Vaccine For W. Va. Is Ready For Use

Five Counties Get Second Shipments

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 18 (AP)—West Virginia's entire second shipment of Salk polio vaccine has been processed and is ready for distribution to the counties, State Health Director N. H. Dyer said today.

Dr. Dyer said the state had received enough vaccine for 89,310 inoculations.

Five counties already have received their vaccine at the state hygienic laboratory in South Charleston. They are Raleigh, Kanawha, Logan, Wyoming and McDowell.

Dr. Dyer said other counties have indicated they want vaccine shipped from South Charleston. Shipments will be made by air where requested, otherwise by mail.

The health director expressed the belief that most counties plan to use the vaccine late this week or early next, and said:

"I feel we should be able to complete our program by the Aug. 1 deadline."

He said he had received no indication that parents had any hesitancy about accepting the vaccine, which has been a subject of some confusion in official quarters. He added that in so far as he knew, counties were prepared to use the vaccine promptly.

Plans Progress For State Park

The biggest project in the park expansion program of the State of West Virginia will be the million-dollar year-round resort to be constructed at Blackwater State Park in Tucker county, near Davis.

The state is building a road into the Blackwater Falls area which, when completed, will include a bridge across Blackwater River and through the park area.

Contracts for the construction of 25 cabins and a lodge with 55 sleeping rooms at Blackwater are now being prepared and these structures are expected to be under roof by November, according to Kermit McKeever, chief of the Conservation Commission's Division of State Parks.

Interior work will continue through the winter and the guest facilities will be ready for use by next May.

At Cacapon State Park, near Berkeley Springs, there will be 11 new cabins ready for use by August 1. A new 50-room lodge now under construction at Cacapon will not be ready this year.

Industrial Strength America's Future

The five-fold increase in the American standard of living over the past century is credited by Fortune magazine to this country's "practical economic man" who is "the ideal perpetrator of a genuine industrial revolution."

While this country's natural resources and its large market are usually given the credit for American industrial leadership, the magazine says the root cause of that position is found in certain American characteristics that have made for economic progress. Here is how these traits are set forth:

First, a disregard for custom and tradition and an enthusiasm for change. Second a feeling of equality, particularly a faith in the principle of equality of economic opportunity. Third, confidence and optimism.

Confidence and optimism are qualities which led a visiting team of experts from abroad to observe, "American businessmen never appear discouraged by any problem, however insurmountable it may seem to be."

Fourth, the energy and ambition, the urge to succeed, that have characterized American genius.

America's rising productivity in the past 50 years is looked upon as probably the greatest single influence upon the history of Western civilization. And this economic achievement is viewed as an equally great cultural achievement, with the prime aim set forth as the elevating of men and the freeing of them from the tyranny of the physical world.

This progress is pointed to as a high point in the development of most of the supreme values of Western civilization.

All this has come about because practically every one of the traits which spurred young industrial America a hundred years ago not only has survived but has strengthened and matured. Here is food for thought for those who regard America's future with pessimism.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Political Unrealities

William Graham Sumner wisely stated the case against unrealities which become political problems when he said:

"... The whole method of abstract speculation on political topics is vicious. It is popular because it is easy; it is easier to imagine a new world than to learn to know this one; it is easier to embark on speculations based on a few broad assumptions than it is to study the history of states and institutions; it is easier to catch up a popular dogma than it is to analyze it to see whether it is true or not. All this leads to confusion, to the admission of phrases and platitudes, to much disputing but little gain in the prosperity of nations."

This is one of the problems with which the great gentlemen who meet at Geneva must deal. They are faced by a series of unrealities in which their own peoples and most of the peoples of the world have somehow come to believe.

For instance, the rights of weak and backward nations, self-determination as Woodrow Wilson put it, are unrealities. Weak and backward nations live today, as they always have lived, by the consent of the strong powers until, for one or another historic reason, they themselves become strong. Belgium, for example, can be a free nation, as long as its protectors are able to defend it. Twice Germany has demonstrated that Belgium cannot successfully be defended. Had Germany won either World War I or World War II, Belgium would have become a state within the German Empire.

Many intelligent persons in most countries believe that colonialism is unjust. But when they employ the term, colonialism, they are thinking in terms of the 19th Century, rather than in terms of the middle of the 20th Century. By colonialism they mean the possession or domination of a weak and backward country such as India by a powerful economic and military empire such as Great Britain. While remnants of such empires continue to exist, the general trend in that category has been one of recession.

The old colonialism was, generally speaking, expansion by seapower and exploitation by commerce and capital investment. The new colonialism, as practiced by Soviet Russia and Red China, is the expansion of political and geographical boundaries and the absorption of existing countries into the Soviet Universal State by their conversion into Marxist nations.

The constant quarrel with Great Britain and France over the remnants of their colonial empires is an emphasis on the insignificant compared with the vast growth of the new colonialism in the Soviet Universal State which has since 1938 increased its population from 180,000,000 to approximately 900,000,000 souls. As a matter of reality, India could be included to the extent that its sympathies lie with the Soviet Universal State although its declarations are for neutrality.

Another unreality that is generally accepted as a true condition is the assumption that peace is not war. The Cold War should have convinced the world that war is of many devices in the current practice. For instance, all the announcements of new weapons, of expansion of atomic and hydrogen bombs, of great explosions which are supposed to be secret but are photographed and the pictures given universal currency are new methods of warfare. They are designed to frighten the opponent into making political concessions, just as a defeat in what used to be called war resulted in political concessions.

Penetration is a method of warfare which only the Soviet Universal State has developed efficiently. It consists in operations by one country within another with the object of weakening the resistance of the penetrated country, leading to its eventual absorption by the penetrator. The use of this weapon of war is particularly vicious when the penetrator uses native sons to accomplish his purpose, thus camouflaging his activities and taking full advantage of beneficial domestic laws.

It is doubtful whether this issue will be raised at Geneva, although it was once raised by an American Secretary of State, Bainbridge Colby. We speak of the outlawing of the atom and hydrogen bombs; we do not speak of the possibility of outlawing the equally deadly weapon of penetration. It is equally deadly because as a result of the defensive measures taken against it, all free peoples may lose their freedoms and thus become weakened in their war against an expanding enemy empire.

The Man With The Quill Pen

Guaranteed Wage No Real Benefit To Workers

BABSON PARK, Mass.—Supposing the principle of some form of the so-called guaranteed annual wage, or an extended form of unemployment compensation, spreads to a large number of companies, will most workers really benefit?

Many workers think that somebody or other life can be made secure by legislation or labor union agreement. Higher wages, shorter hours, and unemployment benefits may temporarily raise their standard of living. Most of their victories, however, so increase their cost of living that the wage earner would have little more left at the end of the year were it not for the inventions of labor-saving devices.

Capital (employers) and wage earners are like two tanks of water connected at the bottom by a pipe. The pipe represents the channels of trade. The water represents income. The Capital Tank is big and holds lots of water. The Labor Tank is smaller and holds less water. Because, however, both tanks stand at the same level, and because water always seeks its own level, the water in both tanks will reach the same level, no matter how much is poured into either tank. This applies to the so-called "guaranteed wage."

Union Labor retains it not really an increase. There are only two ways to get healthy increases in wages. One is through producing more by working harder and longer. The other is through new inventions and products that cut costs and increase output. The greatest value of Labor Unions to the workworkers is that the Unions force Capital to spend money on research, inventions, and advertising — which reduces costs and increases production. A healthy economy is dependent upon good business, which is the operation of an enterprise profitably and efficiently.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

If we're going in for co-extinction at the conference level we're making a bad start.

Everybody is as friendly as two boys on one bicycle.

The Moscow delegation no longer nods like it was watching a tennis match.

The Kremlin has put the carte before the blanchette. And has conceded territory by opening the egg at the near end. It's holding out only one ukase on the Pravda proxies. "Don't agree with it until it's interpreted."

Our own Swiss hotel occupation force has extended the right hand of fellowship. It's splitting the Russians half-way.

That's the best bulletin we got since a scientist said he could make rain by rubbing two umbrellas together.

In peace as well as war events move in cycles. It took about eleven years for liberty cabbage to become sauer-kraut again.

This rash of amicable retorts started when the top Russian brass attended a Fourth of July wingding at our Moscow Embassy. For there is neither border, nor breed nor birth, when two strong men stand face to face, even though one is a baseball umpire.

Nikky Khrushchev toasted the Embassy in favor of peace with breathing spells. Nikky said, "If there must be war let's be both on the same side."

That's a wonderful idea but too much like strengthening the team by making the bench longer.

We return Nikky's good wishes with the toast, "If we're both on the same side who does the cooking?"

It looks like through an Alpine village will pass the banner with the strange device, "Co-existence."

Anti-DDT Whispering Campaign Due To Hysteria

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deilen

There are as many vicious rumors about the poisonous effects of DDT going around as there were about the use of aluminum cooking utensils a generation ago. It is to be expected that the "whispering campaign against DDT will meet the same fate as that against aluminum, as both were kindled by hysteria and not fact.

Acute, uncomplicated DDT poisoning is a recognized condition but, so far no one ever has died from this cause. According to Dr. Wayland J. Hayes Jr., in the American Journal of Public Health, fatalities have occurred after swallowing DDT combined with other products, but in each instance, the other substance proved to be responsible. In one suicide in which

DDT powder was used, possible involvement of other poisons in the compound was not excluded.

This is a remarkable record, considering the tons of DDT used since its introduction 10 years ago. But the opponents of this insecticide are not concentrating their fire on acute poisoning. Their guns are focused on the spraying of crops, done to kill pests. They are fearful that traces of this material finally reach our dining room table.

This is true, but whether or not this represents a hazard remains a moot question. Studies have been made on the most popular items consumed at breakfast, lunch, and dinner in restaurants and institutions. Chemical analyses disclosed minute traces of DDT in every food. Fatty dishes and foods cooked in fat contained more because DDT is soluble in oil, grease, and fat.

But the proof of the pudding is in the eating. If DDT were as harmful as its enemies say, scientists and the public would have heard by now of cases of the various diseases blamed on the insecticide. These include polio, hepatitis, heart trouble, psychoneurosis, and even cancer.

When DDT is administered to animals, it is stored in their fatty tissues. The more absorbed, the more stored, until the saturation point is reached. But nothing adverse happens. Evidence shows that DDT is changed into another chemical, which leaves the body via the kidneys.

Some workmen have been engaged in the manufacture and formulation of DDT for eight or more years. Despite this extensive occupational exposure, they are in good health. We may assume that these workers use adequate precautions.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

William McDermott, extolling the merits of simple psychology, cites the case of a woman who came to the family counsellor declaring, "I hate my husband! I don't want to divorce him, but I want to make things as tough for him as I possibly can."

"I know just how you should proceed," the old counsellor assured her. "Start showering him with compliments and indulging him every whim. Then, just when he knows how much he needs you — you start divorce proceedings. You'll fracture him!"

The wife decided this was sound advice. Six months later the counsellor met her at a dinner, and asked, "Are you still following my suggestion?"

"I am," said the wife. "Then how about filing your divorce papers?" pursued the counsellor.

"Are you out of your head?" countered the wife indignantly. "We're divinely happy! I love him with all my heart!"

Will Russia Reverse New Look?

Leaders Frank On Weaknesses

By Drew Pearson

GENEVA—The most important question on everyone's mind in Geneva is whether the new sweetness and light exuded by the Russians is here to stay and what is behind it. Will it be reversed in a day, a week or a year?

Secretary Dulles has told Senators it's because Russia is now weak. President Eisenhower has said that, on the contrary, Russia is strong. Frankly, nobody knows the answer. Yet the answer is all-important if any agreements made at Geneva are to be worth the ink they're signed with.

European diplomats of long experience with whom I have talked come nearest to giving the answer. Namely, that while Russia is strong militarily, she is weak politically and economically; also, finally has discovered she may have a treacherous friend in the form of Red China.

It's long been known that the Kremlin wasn't happy about the boisterous boys who have been running Communist China. But on top of this, Party Leader Khrushchev made a trip to China last fall, where the Red Chinese made some economic demands which Russia couldn't possibly fill, and also made Khrushchev realize that the day might come when China's 600,000,000 people might turn against Russia's 200,000,000. At such a time Russia will need friends.

Russia's Weaknesses

Khrushchev also found that Russia was in no position to risk a war or stand up in any tough way against the West, despite its amazing progress in planes and guided missiles.

European diplomats have made a careful study of Russian weaknesses, and perhaps the best answer to the Kremlin's diplomatic strength or lack of it is to look at the results of that study.

AMAZING FRANKNESS — Here is part of it, taken from the amazing frank statements of Soviet leaders themselves. "Some party leaders have acquired the habit of talking only about successes. They avoid discussions of shortcomings and difficulties," opined the blunt new boss of Soviet Russia, Nikita Khrushchev, in a three-hour harangue before the Soviet Party's Central Committee on January 25, 1955. "It is necessary," he continued, "to cut down the impermissible, great losses of grain during the harvest. It is completely intolerable that delays in harvesting on many collective farms have resulted in losses of up to a quarter of the standing crop—and sometimes more."

"Many officials go no further than making speeches and drafting resolutions on fodder and do not organize a resolute struggle to increase the fodder production," continued Communist Secretary Khrushchev.

COWS MUST HAVE UDDERS— "What is the situation in regard to the construction of silos and silage pits?" he asked the assembled Communist conclave. "Very bad," he answered his own question. "There have been cases of the machine and tractor station mowing the grass on collective farms, reporting fulfillment of the hay plan with MTS workers even receiving bonuses for this, while the hay of the collective farms remained ungathered because it was not raked or stacked." ... "If your name is a cow," proclaimed the baldheaded Khrushchev, quoting the poet Mayakovsky, "you must give milk and have an udder. If you have neither milk nor an udder, to the devil with your name." And Khrushchev went on to quote figures showing that the Soviet cow population had dropped half a million between 1928 and 1952, while the beef cattle had been reduced by 2,200,000. ... He did not mention, of course, the reason why—namely, that Russian peasants, called upon to sell their livestock to the state, butchered and ate it instead.

HOUSING AND PLUMBING — Soviet leaders have been equally frank about other difficulties. "Officials of the building industry," said the same baldheaded blunt speaking Khrushchev, "have no reason to give themselves airs. They should learn something from our friends in Czechoslovakia. Certain comrades learn little from others, and what is most important, they don't want to learn." ... "I visited a new hotel at Sverdlovsk. The bathrooms had been very badly built and the standard of decorative work was not high. Pipes in the sanitation unit were covered with rust. The joints between the pipes had been very badly made and I, as a former steamfitter, was extremely indignant." ... "The machine-building industry fell short of quotas on sewing machines, watches, bicycles and metal bedsteads," wrote Pravda, Feb. 26, 1954. "The food ministry failed to provide the required amounts of fish, meat, butter, macaroni and potatoes. ... An end must be put to bureaucratic methods in management of enterprises."

BLACK MARKETING—Soviet unrest results partly from shortages in consumer goods. They are so scarce they are sold on the black market. ... To check illegal trade practices and black marketing, in consumer goods," wrote Pravda, Jan. 28, 1955, "the Georgian Communist Party has discharged the chiefs of the bread and grocery chains in the Georgian Soviet Republic." ... Among the items listed as sold on the black market are shoes, sweaters, furniture, spirits, radios, cars, cloth, farm products, coats, enamelware, furs and movie-theatre tickets.

KHRUSHCHEV'S BIG RISKS—It was to relieve food shortages that Party leader Khrushchev launched his big collective farm program. Sending thousands of tractors to Central Russia, plus office workers and city slickers who knew little about farming, Khrushchev decided to get food production—or else. ... To some extent he succeeded. But what he couldn't control was the weather and the natural desire of every farmer whether in Iowa or Kazbekistan to work for himself.

Ike At The Summit

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

If all goes well, history will probably record the summit meeting at Geneva as the moment when President Eisenhower first strongly asserted his personal leadership in foreign policy-making. The question is, simply, whether the President will follow his own creative inclinations or will stick to the official administration line.

Until the very moment when the American delegation left for Geneva, the official approach to the summit meeting continued to be extremely negative—at least every level below the White House level. Immense numbers of "position papers" were laboriously prepared. But essentially, the aim was to prevent anything awful happening at the summit, rather than to make something good happen there.

Most of the position papers took the form: "If the Soviets make move A concerning Germany, then we must make move B to secure a checkmate." Furthermore the decision was taken to try to avoid talking about one of the two vast problems that are the real keys to any true international settlement, and to avoid taking any solid American position whatever on the other.

On any honest assessment, all European and all economic questions pale into perfect insignificance when compared with the question in the Far East and the question of disarmament. The Far East is the place where international Communism is or the march today, and there can be no real world settlement until it is known where this onward march will be finally halted. Disarmament above all demands decisions about the absolute weapons; and there can be no end of the fear that haunts the world until the world knows what is to be done about the H-bomb.

Yet the aim of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and the other official policy makers is not to discuss the Far Eastern question at Geneva if it is possible to dodge doing so. In the preparation meetings, the British and French were requested to cooperate in this policy of silence.

By the same token, for weeks before the President's departure for Geneva, the Administration was riven by a first-class row about the right approach to the disarmament question. The Pentagon (which means the Joint Chiefs of Staff, for Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson has not interested himself in the matter) is undyingly opposed to a serious disarmament effort. The disarmament talks that have taken place to date have aroused no Pentagon opposition because they were thought to be meaningless. But the Pentagon is up in arms now, because serious disarmament talks seem to be a possibility.

On the other side of the battle, Harold Stassen, whom the President has charged with personal responsibility as the American disarmament policy maker, fought long, hard and obstinately for permission to take his disarmament plan to Geneva as the American government's plan. It is a bold plan, although it is perhaps not sufficiently worked out in detail. At any rate, the State Department took the stand that Stassen's bonework was not finished, and this tilted the balance against Stassen.

As a result, a British disarmament plan is being taken to Geneva and so is a Soviet plan; but no American plan is being taken there. It is even doubtful whether Stassen himself will be permitted to play a Geneva role. To his bitter chagrin, he was not included in the official delegation. He left for Paris as an "unofficial observer."

All sorts of indication have been seeping out of the White House, however, that this extremely negative approach by no means suits President Eisenhower's current mood. It is clear, in fact, that the President would like to talk turkey with the Soviets.

So far, the Soviets have shown all sorts of signs of wanting to talk turkey with Eisenhower. The inclusion of his friend, Marshal Zhukov, in their delegation is only one of these signs.

Meanwhile, the President's inclination to try to do business with the Russians has also been considerably strengthened by the report of Charles E. Bohlen. Bohlen has stated that the Russians really do want some sort of settlement or relaxation of tensions, not so much because of crippling inner weaknesses in the Russian system, but because the Soviet leaders have also looked down the dark perspective opened by the H-bomb.

Altogether the chances are pretty good that the pettifoggish position papers will be torn up; that the negative approach will be abandoned; and that the President will make a bold, honest and creative effort to find the beginning of a basis for agreement.

Ruling By Helfand Upheld By Court

NEW YORK, July 18—(INS)—Supreme Court Justice Martin E. Frank today dismissed a petition by Danish welterweight Chris Christensen to compel the New York State Athletic Commission to lift the ban on his scheduled bout with Gene Poirer next Monday at St. Nicholas Arena.

The ruling upheld commission chairman Julius Helfand, who refused to approve a bout where the fighter's manager had been suspended.

Charley Bauer, Christensen's manager, was suspended by Helfand last June 27, when, as an official of the Boxing Manager's Guild, he refused to testify before a commission hearing on the business of the organization.

Athletics Drop Seventh In Row

Sievers Tops Attack As Senators Win, 6-3

KANSAS CITY, July 18 (AP)—Washington handed the Kansas City Athletics their seventh straight defeat, 6-3, today and swept a three-game series as Roy Sievers clubbed two home runs and a double for the Senators.

Prior to losing the three games to seventh-place Washington, the sixth-place A's, plagued by poor pitching, dropped three straight to cellar-dwelling Baltimore and one to Detroit.

Eddie Yost also had a round-tripper for Washington, a two-run blast in the second inning, following Sievers' double.

Sievers' first homer came in the fourth inning with the bases empty. His second round tripper was hit in the eighth with one aboard and ended Washington's scoring.

The A's' outliners Sievers 10-6 but did a poor job of putting them together and rapped into five double plays.

Righthander Ted Abernathy gained the victory, his second of the season.

Campanella Surgery Bill Of $9,500 Paid, Slander Suit Dropped

NEW YORK, July 18 (INS)—Sports Commentator Harry Wismer reported tonight that a $9,500 slander suit against Brooklyn Dodger President Walter O'Malley by a Manhattan neurosurgeon, has been settled out of court for $9,500—the bill for an operation on Roy Campanella's hand.

Wismer, in his Mutual Network radio broadcast, said the Brooklyn club has paid Dr. Samuel Shenkman his fee and the physician has agreed to drop his suit against the Dodger catcher and the one he filed against O'Malley in Supreme Court for slander.

Shenkman performed an operation on Campanella's left hand last October. The physician sent the catcher a bill for $9,500, which Campy refused to pay.

CHICAGO, July 18 (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles' Jim Wilson snapped the seven-game winning streak of the Chicago White Sox today with a one-two-hit performance for a 3-0 victory.

The loss dropped the Sox two games behind the league-leading New York Yankees, with whom they open a three-game series in Chicago tomorrow. The Yankees were idle today.

Gus Triandos' homer following a single by Cal Abrams in the first inning provided the Orioles with the margin of victory. The home run was Triandos' ninth of the season setting a new record for Baltimore. An error by Bob Kennedy and Hal Smith's double netted the Orioles a run off relief pitcher Morrie Martin in the eighth inning.

Right-hander Mike Fornieles was charged with the loss, his third against six wins, after yielding five of the Orioles seven hits in the five innings he worked.

The shutout was Wilson's third of the year and improved his won-loss record to 7-9. Minnie Minoso, who doubled with two out in the

Monmouth Park Record Is Set By Boulmetis

Baltimore Jockey Rides 56th Winner

OCEANPORT, N. J., July 18 (AP)—Sammy Boulmetis set a new all-time track record for jockeys at Monmouth Park today by booting home his 56th winner in the seventh race.

The 28-year-old Baltimore-born rider scored on H. H. Hecht's Henry My Boy in the mile and a sixteenth claiming race and surpassed by one a mark established by Jimmy Stout four years ago. Boulmetis tied Stout's mark by winning with Miss Jean Cochran's Legal in the first.

Stout, who retired from racing last year and is now an associate steward at Monmouth Park, appeared in the winner's circle after the seventh to congratulate Boulmetis.

Boulmetis, a consistent winner here from the start, scored triples five times during the 32 racing days here and has won five of the 11 stakes events to date. The meeting still has 18 days to run. In all, Boulmetis has had 179 mounts and has amassed a 31.8 average in the winner's circle. He also has finished second 29 times.

Scortichini Stops Clayton In Eighth

MANILA (Tuesday) July 19 (AP)—Italy's Italo Scortichini, 156, last night stopped Marshall Clayton, 150, of New Orleans, in the eighth of a scheduled 12-round bout to retain his Philippine middleweight boxing title.

Scortichini won the crown 16 days ago with a fourth round TKO over Young Paulino. Scortichini meets world welterweight champion Carmen Basilio in a 10-round nontitle bout in New York Aug. 10.

and third 17 times for an in-the-money average of 56 per cent. The next best rider is Karl Korte with 17 wins.

Legal was the public's choice today, paying $5.80, while Henry My Boy went off as second favorite for a $9.20 payoff. In both cases, Boulmetis came from behind to win.

Driver Sentenced On Motor Counts

A 31-year-old motorist, Elmer L. Hughes, of 406 Waverly Terrace, was given a 40-day jail sentence yesterday in Trial Magistrate's Court on two state traffic charges.

Picked up Saturday at the corner of Baltimore and Centre Streets, Hughes was unable to pay fines totalling $112.20.

Magistrate J. Milton Dick said the defendant was not involved in an accident. City police made the arrest.

Another driver, Jack Russell Smith, 31, of 316 Bond Street, was fined $16.45 on a reckless driving charge. His car crashed against two parked vehicles in the 700-block Maryland Avenue late Friday night.

WEST'S penalty double of the game contract in the following hand was certainly speculative, but it was better than South's redouble—in fact much better on a result basis!

Since West didn't have anything resembling four tricks against the spade contract, and also since the opposing bidding had been strong (not the faltering type one hears so often), it is hard to justify the double.

Look at your face carefully in a good long look at your face and the mirror. What shape would you say it is? You must be sure about this, for the information is important to you in selecting the most becoming hair style and makeup. Come to terms with your face—recognize its possibilities and its impossibilities.

If you don't know which shape your face is, here are two tricks for finding out: (1) Draw a frame about 6" x 9" with soap on your wall mirror. Pull your hair back lightly and stand so your head is enclosed in the "frame." Now take

It is well to note that the face has four planes: the forehead; the frontal plane in which are the eyes, cheekbones; nose and mouth; and the two areas from cheekbones to hairline.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Former Resident Killed By Train In West Virginia

Man Was Dozing Along Tracks

A 42-year-old former Cumberland resident was killed instantly early Sunday morning when he was struck by a train on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad near Orleans Crossroads in Morgan County, W. Va.

Dr. Edward M. Sipple, county coroner, ruled the death of Earl Austin Youngblood of Great Cacapon was accidental after investigating the mishap with Deputy Sheriff William Clark. No inquest was held.

Authorities said Youngblood, who moved to Great Cacapon from South Cumberland about three years ago, apparently was dozing while sitting on a cross tie along the railroad track near the site where he and two companions had been fishing most of the night.

The train engineer told police he saw the man sitting on the tracks with his head in his hands when the engine rounded a curve about 1 1/2 miles from Orleans near the Potomac River. He was unable to stop the train in time to keep from striking Youngblood, who died of a fractured skull.

The two fishing companions, Byron Cross and Leslie Dawson, both of Great Cacapon, were not with Youngblood at the time of the mishap. Police said Cross was asleep on a nearby bank of the river while Dawson was fishing.

The victim was born May 22, 1913, in Morgan County and was a son of the late John and Lucy (Vincent) Youngblood. He was employed at a sawmill which is owned by a brother, Gilbert Youngblood, in Great Cacapon.

Survivors include his brother, Gilbert; three sons, Vincent and Henry at home and James, with the armed forces in Korea; three daughters, Mrs. Beulah Moats, Philadelphia, Pa.; Juanita and Loretta, both at home; four other brothers, Leo of Hancock; Bert of Great Cacapon; Marion of Cincinnati, Ohio; and Melvin of Pittsburgh, Pa.; and a sister, Mrs. Maggie Peck, also of Pittsburgh.

The body is at the Park Funeral Home in Berkeley Springs, W. Va., and a service will be held today at 2:30 p. m. (EDT) at Mt. Meble EUB Church with Rev. Myrtle Tedrick officiating. Interment will be in the church cemetery.

Rooftop Birth Causes Flurry At Board Office

A "blessed event" which took place yesterday on the roof of the one-story annex to the Board of Education office caused quite a bit of commotion among the staff members of the board.

The mother, described as a night hawk, who flew in sometime ago, hatched the egg yesterday and the offspring seemed to be getting along nicely in its new environment.

Apparently the father of the little one was not around for the blessed event but the mother was keeping a close watch on her offspring. Members of the staff of the Board of Education had taken quite an interest in the family residing on the gravel roof.

Man Posts $2,500 Bond In Attack Case

One of three Cumberland men held on a charge of assaulting and raping a 34-year-old Hagerstown woman in Mineral County, W. Va., on July 14 yesterday posted bond for action of the grand jury on July 26.

James E. Beerman, 30, of 10 Fourth Street, posted bond which was set by Judge Ernest M. See in circuit court. Still held in Mineral County jail at Keyser are James W. Fadley, 30, of 1414 River Avenue, and Daral C. Lambert, 25, of 439 Grand Avenue.

Fadley is being held on $3,500 bond and Lambert on $2,500 bond on the charges.

Area Firemen Named To State Committees

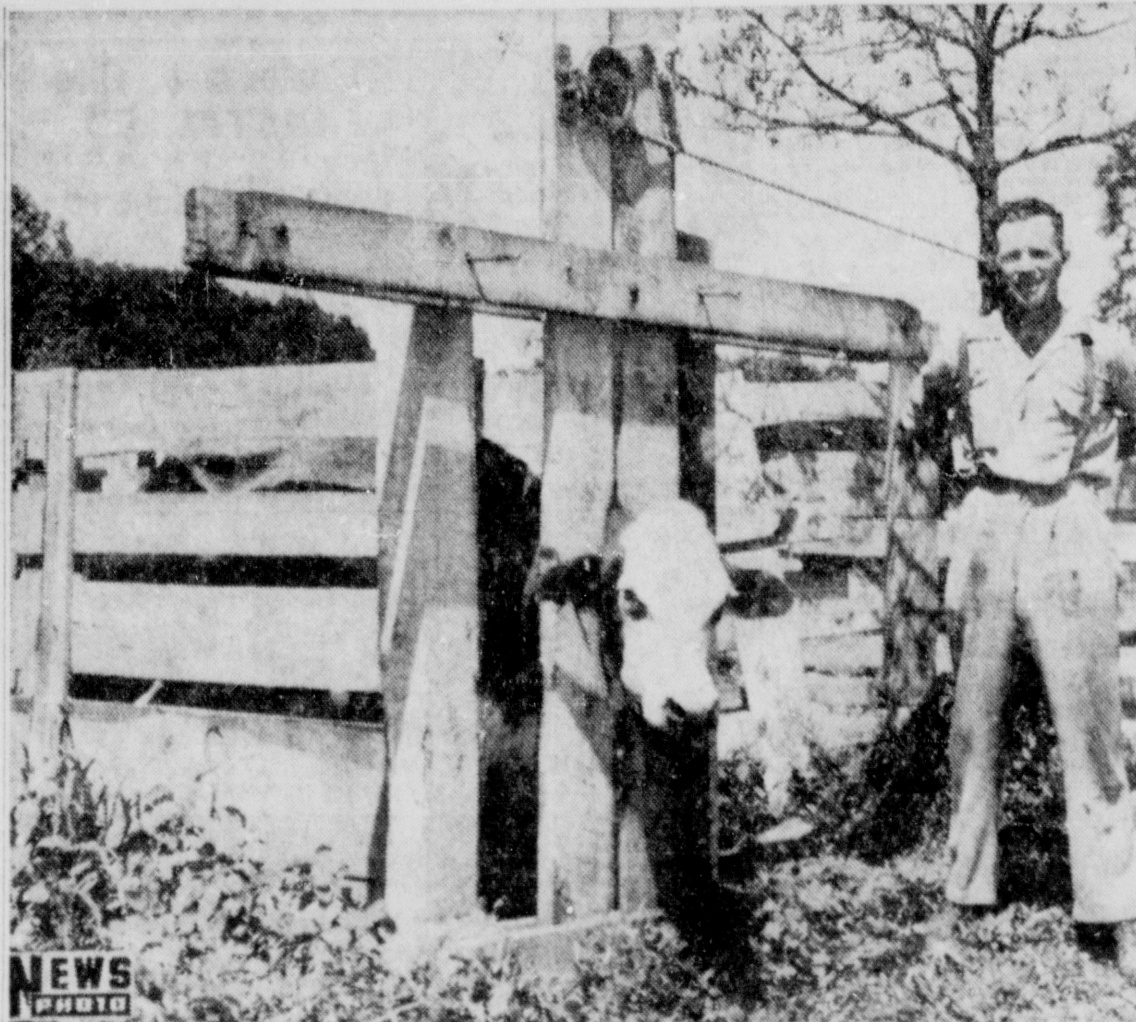

Joseph Stuckey, Corriganville, was appointed chairman of the State Topics and Statistics Committee, and David E. Kirk, Barton, Executive Board member, by Ted C. Gardner, newly-elected president of the Maryland State Firemen's Association.

Homer Ambrose, of McCoole, was appointed to serve the unexpired term of Kirk on the State Fire Prevention Committee. The term expires in 1959.

Everybody was complaining about the heat again yesterday. And the weatherman promises continued hot weather today although some cold air is expected to move into the area this evening. The official high temperature here yesterday was 90 degrees with an official low reading of 66 degrees. At 7:45 p. m. yesterday the temperature was 74 degrees and humidity at 6 p. m. was 62 per cent.

Demonstrates New Chute

A Hereford on the farm of Wilbur E. Crabtree rather unhappily demonstrates how the new cattle chute on Crabtree's farm works. The farm owner stands at the right. County Agent Joseph M. Steger reports that some farmers in the area have built chutes like Crabtree's for the assistance of the veterinarian when he comes to test the cattle for brucellosis, also known as Bang's disease. While the bovine is immobilized in the chute the veterinarian can quickly draw a blood sample from the jugular vein. The chute can be used at other times such as when treating the cattle for what is known as "black leg" trouble. So far about 4,000 head of dairy and beef cattle have been tested for brucellosis by Dr. C. N. Foote Jr., LaVale, and Dr. Leo Shives, Hancock. All dairy cattle and all beef cattle except steers must be tested by November 1 for brucellosis and infected animals must be destroyed. Steger has reminded cattle owners, even those with only one cow, that they must contact a veterinarian for the test.

Council Votes Street Repair In Lonaconing

Project To Include Fourth Thoroughfare

After considerable discussion last night, the Mayor and Council of Lonaconing voted to expand its street repair program to include Allegheny Street along with three other streets authorized at the July 5 meeting.

At the last session, a contract was awarded to the Cumberland Contracting Company to blacktop Robins Street, Hanekamp Street and Church Street for a total cost of $17,157. The council voted to borrow $10,000 from the Liberty Trust Company to partially cover the cost.

Last night Thomas Holmes and several other Allegheny Street residents requested that their street be repaired too in compliance with promises made by a number of town officials. He said it would be less expensive in the long run to repair his street while work was being done on the other streets.

Mayor Virgil Alexander told the councilmen that the added cost for repair of the fourth street would be $3,075. He said that he had been informed by an official of the Liberty Trust Company that the town's borrowing limit has been raised from $10,000 to $15,000.

Commissioner Wilmoth F. Garlitz moved that Allegheny Street also be blacktopped and that $13,000 be borrowed from the bank.

His motion was carried unanimously. The Mayor and Council instructed residents along Allegheny Street that they should make any needed sidewalk repairs immediately so that the new blacktopped surface of the street will not be disturbed. The town clerk, Robert B. Thomas, also was instructed to write both the Lonaconing Water Company and the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company urging them to make any needed repairs to water and gas lines along Allegheny Street before the improvement is made.

Must Cut Weeds
The clerk also was instructed to write a letter to the Western Maryland Railway Company asking removal of high weeds along the company's right-of-way through Lonaconing. It also was decided that property owners who have failed to cut weeds on their property be warned. This matter was referred to Street Commissioner William Berry and Streets Supervisor Marshall Faz-enbaker.

James McElvie appeared at the council meeting to ask that parking be prohibited in front of his residence on Dudley Street because he has been unable to get his automobile in and out of the driveway. Police Commissioner Robert M. Grove was instructed to investigate.

A plan for changing the flow of traffic on Douglas Avenue was referred to the police and street commissioners for study.

Mayor Alexander issued a protest against the damage by vandals of parking meters and street signs in the town. A continuation of this vandalism will not be tolerated. Two of the 65 new parking meters purchased recently already have been damaged.

The council also has voted to rejoin the Maryland Municipal League. Next meeting of the Mayor and Council will be Monday, August 1.

Outing Cancelled

The outing planned by the North Cumberland Homemakers Club for July 20 has been cancelled. The regular meeting will be July 28 at 1:15 at Fairview Avenue Church recreation hall.

Brush Brothers Announce Americanism Day Program

The Brothers of the Brush last night interrupted a Kangaroo Court session to invite citizens of this area to attend Americanism Day activities planned here Aug. 14.

Anthony Struntz, one of two judges who presided at the downtown court session said Sunday, August 14, has been set aside to pay tribute to the importance of the last two centuries of religious progress and endeavor in Cumberland.

The highlight of the observance, he said, will be a program at Fort Hill Stadium that night, when Governor Theodore R. McKeldin will speak.

One of the victims tried by the court was Wayne Mitchell, who came here clean shaven about 10 days ago from Sewickley, Pa., where he had grown a beard during a celebration held by that city. His sentence was suspended after he agreed to sign up at Bicentennial headquarters today.

Three girls, Kay Treize, Lois McGann and Paula Johnson, serenaded the audience with toy instruments after they were accused of failing to join the Bicentennial Belles. They told the court they would sign up today.

Three members of the brushy clan, Joseph Hayhurst, Robert Valentine and Bernard Corrigan, picked up by Keystone Kops for failing to wear hats, were sentenced, in order, to steer a wheelbarrow full of water to the nearest sewer, to wheel a pedestrian to the Centre Street intersection and to a cooling down in Y Public Bathing.

Officials announced the Baltimore Avenue Hilly Bush Club will meet today at 9 p. m. at the Happy Hills Restaurant.

Child Detention Center Is Urged

BALTIMORE, July 18 (AP)—Thomas J. S. Waxter, State director of public welfare, today called for a detention center for children now being kept in training schools and establishment of two more forestry camps.

Waxter made his request to the State Planning Commission. He said populations of Maryland's four training schools have increased enormously in recent years with commitments up by about 300 in the boys' schools during the last year.

His proposed detention center would handle nearly 1,000 children a year for a period of not more than six weeks each. Waxter said this would not only serve to relieve the training schools but would also provide a valuable new treatment facility for children and a valuable service to the courts.

As an alternative to a new building, Waxter said Montrose School for Girls could be expanded to take care of not only the white girls but also Negro girls now in Barrett School. Barrett then could be re-modeled as the detention center.

In proposing two new forestry camps in addition to one already being operated at Green Ridge, Waxter said the camps have been proved successful in other states for certain types of youngsters. He also said they would relieve overcrowding at the state schools and lower per capita cost of inmates.

Representatives from the 30 chapters of the Johnstown Regional Blood Center will convene tomorrow at the Cumberland Country Club for the quarterly meeting of the organization's coordinating council.

Mrs. Harry Beneman, president of the Allegheny County Red Cross Chapter, announced yesterday that nearly 100 persons will attend the quarterly convention, which this city will host for the first time.

Highlighting tomorrow's meeting will be a "Dutch Treat" luncheon at 12 o'clock noon for 28 Pennsylvania chapters and the Allegheny and Garrett County groups which are members of the Johnstown region.

An Executive Board meeting is scheduled for 10 a. m. and the six members will discuss Red Cross problems concerning policy, collection and distribution of blood, financial administration of the blood program, and other current related topics.

They include Mrs. George Henderson and Mrs. Morris Barnes, nursing service; Mrs. Robert Gerson, volunteer special services; Mrs. Holmes Cessna, motor corps service; Mrs. Irving Millenson, staff aid service; Mrs. R. T. Boore, home nursing service; and Mrs. A. H. Amick, Mrs. Nathaniel Guggenheimer and Mrs. John Wilkinson, canteen service.

Ridgeley To Aid In Bicentennial

Ridgeley's part in the Bicentennial pageant, which will be held in Cumberland next month, will be discussed during a meeting today at 8 p. m. in the Council Chamber of that community.

Mayor Charles Fryer pointed out that 40 residents of Ridgeley and Carpenter's Addition are being sought to take part in the celebration. He urges all interested persons to attend tonight's meeting.

Spruce Alley Is Being Surfaced

Street Department workers have been blacktopping Spruce Alley. Street Commissioner William H. Buchholz said the area being improved, between Washington and Greene streets, was the only unpaved section of the route which runs from Cumberland to Aviret Avenue.

He said the work was needed because of the extra traffic it has been carrying in recent months.

Degree Work Slated Tonight By K Of C

The first degree will be conferred this evening on about 14 candidates who are joining Cumberland Council 586, Knights of Columbus.

The initiation will be held about 8 p. m. A regular council meeting will also be held this evening. Following the degree work refreshments, including a hot Italian dish will be served. The refreshments are being prepared by Richard Pratt. Members are urged to attend.

Ridgeley Legion Will Meet Today

The annual picnic of Knobley Mountain Post 136, American Legion, will be discussed this evening during a meeting at 8 o'clock in the post home at Ridgeley.

Commander Roland Showers last night said that a "door-knocker" award will be present to Robert Zimmerman, who secured most members in the recent membership drive. All members are urged to attend. Refreshments will be served.

Data Is Mailed To Parents On Desegregation

Program Begins In September

Some 272 letters were sent out to the parents of Negro children yesterday by the Allegheny County Board of Education in reference to the desegregation program which will become effective in county schools this fall.

Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools, yesterday said a preference sheet is accompanying the letter of explanation.

Parents may send their children to Carver, Lincoln or to a neighborhood or district school.

The board, in accordance with the decision of the Supreme Court on segregated schools and the policy as announced by the State Board of Education, went on record July 12 to proceed as quickly as possible with the program.

Webster pointed out that in many situations it will be possible to accommodate all who wish to attend their neighborhood school, both elementary and high. In a few areas the schools are presently overcrowded and to take in a large number of children now could only result in more overcrowding.

Therefore, Webster added, if the Board of Education, for any reason, feels it wise to delay or limit admission to certain schools during the transition period, it reserves the right to do so.

Webster said the board is attempting to give the parents of all Carver and Lincoln children the opportunity to express a preference for the school they wish their children to attend in 1955-56.

A study of the preferences will determine whether all requests can be granted this year. Likewise, it will give the school principals an opportunity to make whatever plans are necessary for the changing enrollments.

Parents of children not enrolled in Carver or Lincoln schools last year who desire to enroll them in a neighborhood school other than the one they are now attending are reminded that preference sheets may be secured at the Board of Education office, 108 Washington Street.

Webster said that if the preference sheets are not returned by July 27, the board reserves the right to assign students.
